BACKGROUND

Togetherall offers anonymous and free online support in a safe and welcoming community environment, alongside courses and resources. The service is clinically managed and professionally moderated 24 hours a day by a team of registered mental health practitioners called Wall Guides, who facilitate engagement across the community and its behaviour. The team also manages cases of risk.

Togetherall was the first and remains the only, digital mental health service to be registered and rated with England's health and social care regulatory body, Care Quality Commission (CQC). To achieve the rating, Togetherall completed an in-depth process of assessment, developed rigorous policies, procedures, and protocols and underwent an intensive audit by an independent team of inspectors. Togetherall's commitment to putting its services through Randomized Control Trial's to improving effectiveness, was rated 'outstanding'.

Togetherall complements existing services within a care pathway and is easily scalable to support entire population health due to its community model. It uses a "one-to-many" approach which means it is accessible to thousands at a time and can also complement treatment in a one-patient-to-one-practitioner model.

Togetherall plays a key role in supporting people across the world with their mental health needs at a time when demand for support is increasing. Coming together as a community to support mental health has a positive impact on our personal lives, extended families, workplaces as well as global health care systems and the economy.

HOW TOGETHERALL WORKS

- Togetherall is a mobile-optimised website that members log-in to use via a web browser.
- Organisations of many types commission Togetherall for their population to have free access to the service. As an example, the University of Sheffield has commissioned Togetherall, so that their staff and students can access free mental health support when they need it.
- When a member decides to register, they will be taken through a simple registration process that requires no collection of names, exact DOB, addresses, or telephone numbers. They will be asked to activate their account using their email address. Upon activation, members will be presented with a short questionnaire that asks for details about their current mental health to help personalise their experience on Togetherall and help Togetherall identify high-risk cases.

When registered, members can choose to participate in the community, creative outlets, courses and resources sections, at their own pace.

- Using a post code – potential member inputs their post code to understand if their NHS or local authority has commissioned Togetherall on a population wide basis.
- Using their organisation-specific email address – usually applicable to the educational sector
- Using a specific URL – Togetherall create a landing page for all members to use.
- Referral – Togetherall can be offered via referral using referral codes. Used most for working alongside mental health treatment centres or services where a professional will refer a client to the service.

NEW NAME, CONTINUED MENTAL HEALTH SUPPORT

In August 2020, the service changed its name from Big White Wall to Togetherall. This was to better reflect our community that brings people together and is a place of safety for all people, without fear of judgement.

The name 'Big White Wall' was originally inspired by the displacement of a community in London, UK, who wrote their thoughts and feelings on the walls of their buildings before their homes were demolished and rebuilt. The previous name represented opportunity and a blank space to say what you are truly thinking.

In the 15 years since we launched our platform, we've expanded our services and grown a vibrant and welcoming community in the UK, New Zealand, Canada and the United States. As we grew and our community evolved, we needed a name that communicated a message of belonging to all, regardless of ability, age, ethnicity, gender identity or expression, national origin, race, religious belief, sex, or sexual orientation.

We believe that the name 'Togetherall' speaks to the true inclusivity of our service, where all are truly welcome."
